Once I had home

Once I had a big family

Once I played with my grandparents

Once I went to school

Will a day change one's life?

Will a day change a country?

Is it possible?

Yes.

A day with thunder without lightening changed our country

I heard a sound of thunder

I was happy to see the arrival of rain

But it was not rain of water

It was rain of bombs

Rain of Bombs lead to

River of bloods

I asked about my dad

My mom didn't answer properly

Half of my family members were missing

My mom said they became angles to save us

After that I never saw smile in my mom's face

Now, I am in a new country

Termed as Refugee

I don't have home

I don't have the big family

I don't have my grandparents to play with

I don't know whether the rain of bombs will happen in this country also.
